

What is something that revolutionised
my way of thinking today?

Is there anything that I felt conflicted about today?

How could I use the wind of change to support my journey of learning/transformation?

What does the peak of my facilitation skills look like?

What is something that sparked my imagination today?

